Holter To Conduct Here In Karas Fund Concert

ette plays in Escanaba Sunday evening, Feb. 27 for the benefit of the Karas Memorial Bandshell Fund it will be conducted in concert by Ralph B. Holter, recognized as responsible for the musical success of the 55-piece symphony orchestra.

Holter has been described as a 'conscientious, serious musician sensitive to what the public likes to hear." He was chosen to conduct the Green Bay Symphonette for the third consecutive season by its Board of Directors.

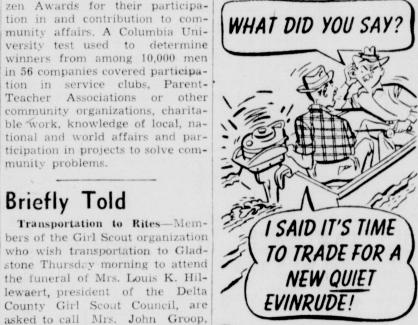

Raised in the home city of the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra, Holter was influenced early in life by that group's performances under the direction of the musically distinguished Eugene Ormandy. This is the eighth consecutive season of the Green Bay Symphonette, begun in 1946 with the late Herman Daumler as conductor and Holter as concertmaster.

Appearance of the Green Bay Symphonette in Escanaba next Sunday evening is assured through the generosity of a group of Escanaba men and women who have accepted invitations to serve as patrons and patronesses and defray expenses of the orchestra to Escanaba. Aside from actual expense, all concert proceeds will go to the Karas Memorial Bandshell

Edson In Washington

(NEA Washington Correspondent) WASHINGTON-(NEA)-With most of

President Eisenhower's special messages now before Congress, it is possible to put together a summary on the basic economic theories guiding his administration. These theories did not bloom in the President's mind overnight. They emerged gradually over the past two years, a product of many minds. Individual parts were created by multiheaded groups like the Housing and Foreign Economic policy commissions, the Agricultural Advisory Committee, the Council of Economic Advisers and even the Cabinet.

Seven principal theories are now distinguishable. They are not fixed nor rigidly followed in dealing with every economic crisis situation that arises. There are exceptions to meet special political conditions. What you have, therefore, is an economic outline rather than a rule book.

ONE: RELIANCE UPON A FREE, competitive price system to ration consumer demand is fundamental. Price and wage controls imposed by the government to regulate supply and demand are rejected policies. This does not apply, of course, to price supports for farm crops nor a minimum wage for labor. Nor would this uncontrolled price system be maintained in war broke out. Indirect controls, like credit controls, would be preferred, however.

2. Provision for incentives to business through adequate profits is to be relied upon to keep the economy continually expanding. It is understood that these incentives will be supplied through tax reductions as justified by national defense and other essential government spending. No new tax incentives are promised for this year, but hope is held out for next

3. The doctrine of providing equal opportunity for every citizen to increase his standards of living is put ahead of the doctrine of artificial redistribution of wealth into equal shares. In simpler language, "soaking the rich" is out, along with the socialistic doctrine of "To each according to his need, from each according to his ability." The new slogan is "My more need not be your less."

4. The administration believes that it is not necessary to have continuing inflation to keep the national economy growing. A stable dollar is to be maintained if possible, to protect private savings. This apparently means, however, that the dollar will be stabilized at its present level and not restored to its former value. To deflate would make repayment of the national debt next to impossible.

FIVE: THE ROLE OF PRIVATE investment is to be conserved in expanding the economy, and the government will de everything it can to promote private investment. Tax credits on dividends are an example. But depression-born theories that the government must continually pump money into business channels to maintain consumer spending and prosperity are now

6. Local effort is to be preferred over federal programs for public works that for any reason cannot be handled by privfederal programs are more precise. Locally run programs are clumsier and less efficient. But the Eisenhower "partnership" idea for multipurpose dam construction is cited as an example of how local initiative for power production can be stimulated and federal participation for flood control minimized at the same time. 7. The international system of economics and trade is to be encouraged and expanded. This is not a Republican policy but a GOP adoption of the Democratic reciprocal trade agreements doctrine of Cordell Hull. It now becomes an integral part of bipartisan foreign policy.

IN TRYING TO FOLLOW these seven principles, the Eisenhower administration is exercising considerable flexibility.

It has not stuck to the idea that the federal budget must be balanced at all times under all circumstances. While trying to keep federal expenses under convaried success. The Army cut its trol, it recognizes that national defense must be provided for.

Senate Takes Time On Pay Raise Bill But Won't Say No

West opened the ten of hearts. The queen was played from dummy and South started the diamonds, cashing the ace and king. When the nine and jack fell, South obviously could have gone ahead and cleared the suit, but he didn't like the number of tricks (eight) that this would give him.

So, probably in an effort to justify his own bidding, South decided to make a desperate try for the contract. He led a low club. West ducked and East won with the ten. On the heart return, West captured South's king and knocked out the heart jack.

Now South led the diamond ten to force out the queen, and at this point West made a fatal mistake: he discarded a club. This gave South the rest of the tricks, since the club queen and king fell together under the ace.

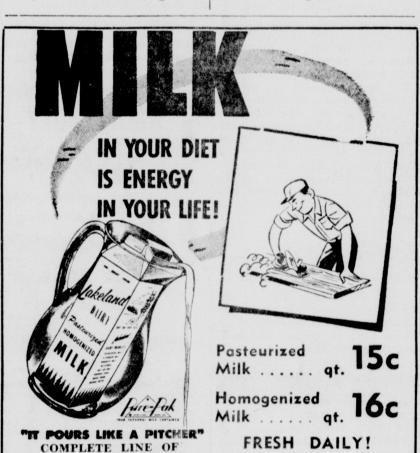

Aside from the fact that West's club discard was incomprehensibly bad, it should also be noted that South would have been help-

To this remainder, add anything you bought out of savings, or installments that would be subject to sales tax Multiply the sum of these by your sales tax rate. This will give you the amount to deduct as sales tax. If you live in a locality where food is subject to saler tax, add what you spent on food to the amount subject to tax.

Goebel...first American beer to win acclaim in Holland

Director of Amstel Brewery, Amsterdam, calls Goebel "one of world's great beers"

"Having had the opportunity of sampling Goebel Beer here in Amsterdam, Holland, we are happy to find that it meets the exacting requirements we have demanded in our many years of brewing Amstel Beer (by appointment to H.R.H. Prince Bernhard of the Netherlands). "It is light and dry with a full-bodied flavor. The distinctive personality of Goebel Beer combines qualities which place it among the world's great beers."

When brewers from Holland, Germany, England, Switzerland, and Belgium praise the quality and flavor of Goebel, it must be good. For never before has one brewery praised another-never before has an American beer won recognition in Europe, the traditional home of fine beers.

Enjoy Goebel, today ... judge its superb qualities for yourself.

Gladstone, rated one of the top Class C basketball teams in the Upper Peninsula, will not be eligible for a seeded position in the district tournament next week at Crystal Falls ... The Braves, who have a season record of 12 wins in 15 starts, have not played the minimum of five games in Class C which is necessary to be eligible for seeding .... The games played in Class B cannot count for seeding in Class C.

Other teams in the district this year at Crystal Falls are Stambaugh, Crystal Falls, Norway and Bishop Baraga of Marquette Stambaugh and Crystal Falls will likely be the top and bottom seeded teams. Drawings for the tournament will be conducted Saturday, Feb. 26, at 10 a. m. at the Crystal Falls High School,

In regard to tickets, tournament officials at Crystal Falls have announced: "To insure seats for fans coming from great distances a total of 200 will be reserved for each night. These tickets will be sold only to schools competing on that particular night. The reserved seat tickets will be put in the hands of high school principals previous to each game so that they may be sold in the home town. On Thursday night (opening night of the tourney) with two schools competing each will have available 100 reserved seats. This will also hold true on Saturday night. On Friday night with four schools competing each school may receive 50 reserved seats for sale to their local fans."

With five teams in the tournament, there will actually be three byes on Thursday night .... Here's the way it will work Gladstone, Norway and Bishop Baraga will draw to see which two teams play the lone game Thursday night ... The team that does not play Thursday night will meet either Stambaugh or Crystal Friday night with the Thursday night winner meeting the remaining seeded team Friday night.
